Rainbows are often seen when the sun comes out after or during a rainstorm. Rainbows are caused when sunlight shines through drops of water in the sky. When white sunlight enters a light exits the raindrop a different angles , it produces the red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo and violet that you see in a rainbow. Together , these colors are known as the spectrum. These colors can sometimes be seen in waterfalls and fountains as well.

In a double rainbow, light reflects twice inside water droplets and form two arcs. In most double rainbows, the colors of the top arc are opposite from those in the bottom arcs. In other words, the order of colors starts with purple on the top and ends with the red on bottom. In addition , rainbows sometimes appear as white arcs at night. These rainbows are called moonbows and are so rare that very few people will ever see one. Moonbows are caused by moonlight (rather than sunlight) shining through drops of water.
