VI- Reading Comprehension (110 Marks)

Read the following passage carefully, and then answer the questions below:

1. San Francisco Supervisor Fiona Ma was so concerned about kids skipping school to play Internet games that last February she successfully pushed for an ordinance that can make it illegal for anyone under the age of 17 to be in an Internet café during school hours. The cafés that the ordinance focuses on rent computer time by hour to people, usually young teens, who play online video games. It may not be hard to understand why these kids become so hooked. Online video games give the player a chance to escape from bullying, peer pressure and chores for a world where they have total control.

2. Online game addiction has become a worldwide problem. The Chinese government has introduced an "anti-online game addiction system" that warns players after three hours of continuous play that they "have entered unhealthy game time, please go offline immediately to rest. If your health is not damaged, the benefits you can draw will be cut to zero." The gamer would have to stay off for five hours before coming back. Players would be able to resume play where he or she left off. In South Korea, a man died after playing almost 50 straight hours at an Internet café. The 28-year-old man was playing "StarCraft," an interactive video game. He had reportedly just quit his job so that he could spend more time playing online.

3. In the same country, a couple was arrested after they had left their 4-month-old daughter unsupervised at home to go play "World of Warcraft" at an Internet café. The child was found dead on her stomach, apparently dying of suffocation. The couple said they only meant to stay a few hours but ended up staying longer than expected.

4. Supervisor Ma says while the problem may not be so dramatic in San Francisco, something needed to be done. "A lot of my friends have kids who are all just addicted and just play these games all the time," Ma says. "The people who are doing that are not hurting anyone else. They are only hurting themselves."

VII- Summary Making (60 Marks)

In FOUR sentences, summarize and paraphrase the following passage in an answer to the following question:

What are the best strategies to get ready for the exams? (4 x 15 = 60)

Many students find that preparing for an individual class for 60-90 minutes per day, five or six days per week, will leave them well prepared at exam time. For some students, it does not pay off. That is why practitioners would recommend that students should not cram at the last second. All-nighters simply do not work for most people and students experience declining returns on their efforts when they attempt to study for four or five hours straight. They would also recommend that students should keep their ears open in class. Their teachers will sometimes tell them about the exam study strategies. They should be in class every day to receive such help. This is particularly true as tests and final exams approach. They insist that students review their class notes on a regular basis.
